Are you really protected?

You are hosting a big summer wedding for one of your best customers. One of the guests gets a little tipsy and wanders into your wine store. The guest accidentally bumps into a display of some of your most expensive wines, causing several bottles to fall and break.

You are heartbroken about the wine. But, to make matters worse, now she is coming back with a hefty medical bill, claiming that she was injured during the fall. There go the profits from the wedding – and then some!

How will your insurance respond to her claim for alleged injury? Are you willing to take chances on your insurance covering this kind of loss?

Talk to the winery insurance specialists.

Since 1950, Illinois Casualty has specialized in protecting food and beverage businesses like yours from a wide range of business, property, and liquor liability losses.

Our depth of experience in coverage and litigation makes us uniquely qualified to provide you with the coverage your business needs. We understand the variables that can be involved with holding receptions, hosting tastings, and having guests on your property when liquor sales are involved. This knowledge helps us better defend you when you need it.
